THE PLAN OF THE UNION

Manager Fowler Explains the New System.

PART OF A GREAT IDEA

A Central Station in Cincinnati Will Distribute Goods, and Liverpool is Only a Part of the Chain—How the Concern Will Operate It.

The plan of the Union pottery to provide its members and employees with the supplies usually used by a family and save them a given percentage on the cost now borne by them, has caused so much comment in the city, and so many wild statements have been made by an unreliable publication, that a NEWS REVIEW man asked Manager Fowler to explain it, and he made this statement:

"The American Co-Operative company, with headquarters at Cincinnati, propose to furnish every cooperative institution in the United States with the necessities of life, and as this can only be done, in our case, through a store, we have decided that the better plan is to give merchants already located whatever benefit may be derived from our trade after allowing our employees a liberal discount, so arrangements have been made with one store in each branch of business by which certificates are accepted at their face value and returned to the company at certain times to be redeemed in cash, less the rebate.

"Our plan is as follows: On pay day each employee issues a check calling for whatever amount of certificates he desires. If he wants all in money he can have it; all in certificates, he can have it. On the certificates he is immediately credited with one-half the rebate, which he can use at once if desired. The other half is held in trust for the present, the employees to decide at a later time what shall be done with it; so practically he receives all the benefit of the discount. He then handles these certificates as cash as they are taken for merchandise or will be redeemed at the office any time.

"One feature of the system is that an employee's check will be honored upon presentation whenever he has a day's work to his credit. An odd Saturday for instance may find him a little short, and he may now get certificates, while under our former rules no money was advanced between paydays. It is no longer necessary for him to contract debts as long as he lives within his means as his money is always ready for him. Labor is his capital, and a less treacherous capital no man can have.

"I certainly can not understand why any workingman in East Liverpool should condemn a system from which his brother workman is deriving a benefit as long as that system can in no way interfere with his interests. You may depend upon it if the Union Co-Operative Pottery company thought for one moment that this move was against the interests of other working people in our city, it would be soon discontinued. There are too many Brotherhood men among us to sanction any plan injurious to the laboring man's cause.

"No, I do not believe other potteries will adopt the plan. It would not pay an ordinary form of company to do it, unless from a philanthropic motive. Even if they should you can readily see that the workingman (and by that I mean the women, too,) would be the gainer.

"Several of the stores interested are stockholders in the company, and they too can use the certificates among themselves, thus saving a discount on their purchases. Later on they can purchase many of their goods from the Cincinnati supply station, which is a distributing center for all products of co-operative institutions, at a lower price than at present, so that the discount given to us does not come from them after all.

"They are the connecting link in a great chain forged upon co-operative principles—the principles which shall yet prove the means of emancipating labor and of solving the great social question of the day, and I am surprised to learn that certain merchants have gone so far as to threaten to boycott the stores interested in the movement, because I feel as E. P. Foster, secretary of the American Industrial union says in a letter just received from him, 'you are on the right track and your plan deserves success.'

"There is a strong co-operative sentiment in East Liverpool, and it seems to me that the merchant who opens hostilities against a plan such as ours is jeopardizing his own interests, and deserves the condemnation of every man interested in labor and labor's cause."

"I did not care to make our system a public matter, but as there seems to be some misunderstanding concerning it, you are at perfect liberty to make use of what I have said in your paper."

The statement will be read with no little interest by many who have been discussing the system during the week, but have had no real foundation upon which to work, because they were unacquainted with the purpose of the plan and its mode of operation.

PURINTON'S OPINIONS.

The Liverpool Attorney Said Some Sensible Things In Springfield.

The Columbus Journal in reporting the convention of building and loan men at Springfield has this to say of Mr. Purinton's paper:

"Mr. J. J. Purinton, of East Liverpool, then read a paper on 'Foreclosure—When and Why?' He advocated foreclosure as the last resort of the association, after everything else had failed. He said he did not believe in the associations having anything of the Shylock character in their dealings—they should get their pound of flesh, but not one drop of blood. In times of depression, such as the temporary suspension of a large manufacturing concern, which was certain sooner or later to do business again, the men who were thus compelled to cease payments on their houses should be given a chance to keep on their feet. They should be made to pay the interest on the money, insurance, etc., until such a time as they could resume payments, provided, of course, that they showed a disposition to commence payments as soon as possible. The only time, he thought, foreclosure necessary or justifiable was when the security was liable to become permanently impaired or the person shiftless and not likely to make steady payments. He clearly voiced the sentiments of the delegates, and his methods were discussed by a number of delegates."

NERVY THIEVES.

Tramps or Campers Eat a Square Meal at East End.

About the boldest trick of thieves that ever occurred in East End was that which Thomas Finley discovered upon arising yesterday morning.

Some unknown parties, presumably tramps or campers, had entered the kitchen by a window and proceeded to the cellar in search of food. What they found there they appropriated to their own use and placed it on the kitchen table for future reference. There was other food on the table so that nothing lacked for a meal except in the line of drinkables. This the thieves hesitated not about securing, but had nerve enough to build a fire in the stove and make coffee enough for two, as the remains of the liquid in the cups attest. There was little or nothing left on the table except the dishes when they finished their meal, and not content with satisfying their appetites they threw some of the ware into the yard and took with them a large bowl of salt. They left the door and windows open upon taking their departure.

The bold trick caused considerable talk in East End, done as it was without arousing a single member of the family or the servant girl on the floor above.

"I did not care to make our system a public matter, but as there seems to be some misunderstanding concerning

PAT DENSMORE'S BOND

He Was Given a Hearing Last Night and Bound Over.

TAKEN TO LISBON TODAY

The Defense Made No Statement of the Case, and the Four Stories Told Were the Same as Those Printed After the Fight.

Pat Densmore was given a hearing last night, and is today reposing in one of the comfortable rooms provided by the county at Lisbon for men of his character:

It was freely stated on the street last night that Densmore's friends were anxious to have him released on bail before a sudden change could take place in the condition of Poyer, but the authorities would not allow that until they had every reason to believe the injured man was out of danger.

The hearing last night was conducted quietly, and there was no dispute on the part of the mayor to deal leniently with the prisoner. John Davis and Patrolman McMillan were examined for what they knew of the fight, but had little to say beyond what has already been given. Cornelius Smith and William Horton, the other men who were cut, told their stories in much the same manner as they have talked to the press. They had little new to offer, and the state, if it possessed any testimony not on the surface, failed to bring it out. The defense when called upon had nothing whatever to say in the way of attempting to clear the accused. Attorneys Brookes and McGarry only asked the mayor to set the amount of bond required, and that was all.

As there were no bondsmen there the mayor sent Densmore back to jail, and at a late hour decided to bind him over to the grand jury, the bond asked being $10,000. The security was not forthcoming, and Chief Gill took Densmore to Lisbon this morning. When Mr. Brookes was asked today if any of Densmore's friends intended giving the bond he refused to talk for publication. It is believed, however, that the move will be made now that Poyer seems to be getting somewhat better. As the man is not considered worse and there are prospects of him recovering Densmore may not stay a great time in jail.

William Horton testified that he and Smith entered McFadden's place and found Densmore and Poyer talking. He did not hear them have any dispute but suddenly Densmore struck Poyer a blow on the ear with the left hand and throwing him across his knee drew the knife with the other. He had Poyer's head back ready to cut his throat when Horton interfered and was wounded and Smith came to his rescue.

Cornelius Smith told more. He said he heard Densmore ask Poyer what he "ran away for," and Poyer replied, "I didn't run away." Densmore said, "You're a — liar; you did," and then struck him and stabbed him. "When Horton was cut," said Smith, "he ran over to me and said he was killed. I replied, 'You — if you're killed, lay down on the floor!'"

John Davis knew little or nothing about it. He said he walked through the barroom to the back yard before the trouble and when he came back it was all over.

Patrolman McMillan testified that Densmore was standing in the saloon, knife in hand, when he arrested him, and he closed the weapon in a rear room, and put it in his pocket. The officers afterward secured it at city hall.

When he was confined at city hall the authorities knew the man they had to handle and watched him carefully. A rumor that Poyer's friends would attempt to lynch him evidently had an effect upon the authorities for he was guarded day and night. An officer was always around where he could keep an eye on him, and at night two men watched without sleeping. Chief Gill was at the jail until midnight. Officer Meanor was there from that time until 1:30, when he was joined by Officer Whan, who always visits the midnight train in search of suspicious characters. From that hour until dawn Densmore had company, and could not become lonesome. It was generally believed that some of his friends might attempt a rescue if his life was in danger, and the guard was strictly maintained.

Whether there were grounds for this extra precaution on the part of the authorities cannot be told, but it certainly served to keep the prisoner safe and prevent disorder.

Poyer is a little better today and the physicians hope that he will recover. Doctor Ikert made this statement today when questioned by a reporter:

"The doctors consider his chances for recovery as improved. The chances from the start have been against him, but are as good now as can reasonably be expected. They are improved over yesterday. It will require a few days more to tell whether the patient will recover."

The published story about the stomach being black, and the presence of inflammation, brought a smile from a group of physicians today. The blackness is caused by the blood clotting and the bruise in the region of the wound.

LOCATING THE BRIDGE.

Colonel Stickney and Party Will Be Here on Monday.

The following appeared last evening in a Pittsburgh paper:

A meeting will be held next Monday at East Liverpool, O., by a board of United States engineers, to view the sight of a proposed bridge. The board is made up of Colonel Amos Stickney and Major D. W. Lockwood, of Cincinnati, and Major R. L. Hoxie, of Pittsburgh, all United States engineers. They meet under a special law regulating the building of bridges over the Ohio river.

J. E. McDonald stated this morning that he did not expect any protests from the Pittsburgh coal exchange this year. They objected at the other meeting, and got almost all they asked. The object in the meeting is to place the bridge so there need be no legal ground for complaint in the future.

WESTMORELAND PROTESTED.

But We Will Get the Silver Cup Just the Same.

George West, Sr., is near death at his home in Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Mr. West was formerly in the pottery business here for about 25 years.

He was in the firm of West, Hardwick & Co., succeeded by George Morley and later by the East Liverpool Pottery Company.

He left East Liverpool about five years ago and is in his 76th year. Old age is the cause of his illness and it is hardly thought that he will recover.

Mr. West is the father of George West, travelling man for Vodrey's and he has been telegraphed for, but changed his route, and has not yet been located.

OPEN AGAIN.

E. K. Chamberlain's Store Was Only Closed One Day.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Chamberlain arrived from Atlantic City yesterday afternoon and as anticipated in the NEWS REVIEW last night, the store was open a few hours later.

Ellis & Co., of Pittsburgh, had a representative here who explained that the closing of the store was all a mistake and had been done by a subordinate. They showed their regret by promptly paying the costs and Mr. Chamberlain's place is open as usual.

LIVERPOOL INTERESTED.

Local Men Will Put Money In the Rogers Pottery.

Two parties from this city and an equal number from Palestine are said to be behind the plan to build a pottery at Rogers. All are reliable men, and as the town offers them as much land as they want the pottery seems to be a certainty.

Going to Brooklyn.

John Anderson will leave on Monday for Brooklyn where he will attend the national meeting of the Daughters of America. He will be joined in Pittsburg by C. W. Morris, national treasurer, Miss Rachel Grafton and Miss Anna Davidson, all of Wellsville; Mrs. Julia Tipton, Miss Jane Packer and Miss Minnie Bechtel, of Canton, and the party will travel east together.

They expect to return through Washington and Baltimore, stopping in each place for a short time to see the sights.

Escaped Arrest.

A party of three young men and an equal number of young women were seen in an uptown house acting suspiciously last night. When asked what they wanted there they replied in language so ambiguous that suspicion was raised at once. They said they were looking for the father of one of the boys, but that would not have been said had they known that individual was watching them closely.

THE PROFESSOR'S CLAIM.

When Professor Wilson, he who framed the tariff law and wanted to wipe East Liverpool off the face of the earth, was defeated in his congressional district last year, the Democratic press was sufficiently interested in his welfare to advise that President Cleveland appoint him to a place on the supreme court bench, should the arch enemy of mankind remove one of the members before the present administration died. The president evidently took kindly to the suggestion for he recognized the services of Mr. Wilson to his party, which simply means the services of Mr. Wilson against his people, and gave him the first public snap in his gift. Now those same Democratic papers are again urging the elevation of the reformer to the highest court in the land, and it is high time they viewed it in a different light. Who is this Professor Wilson, this idol of Democracy, that they should give him a high position? What claim has he upon the supreme bench where legal questions of the first importance are decided? He is a Democrat who chanced to break into congress because he lived in a district with a big Democratic majority. He was never known outside of the narrow confines of the district, and even then he was not observed as a brilliant man. His claim to the honor of a degree was not learned in a great college of the land, and the title of professor was obtained in an institution of learning never known beyond the state. Mr. Wilson's law practice was confined to county courts, and courts of lower degree, and his record as an attorney is not better than a thousand that could be picked from the bar of Ohio. The Democratic administration selected him as a fanatical tariff reformer to carry out its mandate, and he did his best. Perhaps that is his only claim. He cannot be rated among the scholarly and highly educated men of the nation any more than he can be claim distinction as an eminent jurist and lawyer. He is a good politician, did very well as a country lawyer, seemed able to look after Wilson when a college professor, tickles Cleveland by the saving of money as postmaster-general, but he has not the qualifications and possesses no more claim for a seat in the supreme court than any one of 10,000 attorneys who could easily be selected.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result, everything else than bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Potts drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.

THE SEASON BELATED.

Frozen May Set Everything Back In a Business Way.

INDUSTRIES BOOM IN SPITE OF IT.

Dun's Review Says Steel Consumption Is Larger and Prices Rise in the Face of the Increasing Output—Slight Decline in Wheat—Business Failures.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—R. G. Dunn & Co. say in their Review of Trade today: It is a belated season, frozen May set everything back. The heavy business which ought to have been done in May and June was pushed into July, so that the midsummer decline, due in July, comes in August. With this in mind one is not surprised to find the shrinkage from July to August rather more conspicuous than usual. The disappointing crop reports of last Saturday, though evidently distrusted, lessen confidence in regard to the future of trade, even while some speculators gain by them.

Back of all doubts is the fact that the industries are doing better than anybody could have expected. The output of pig iron Aug. 1 was 180,525 tons weekly, or 176,505 by another report, in either case close to the largest output in 1893, though surpassed 15,000 tons in the spring of 1892.

Unsold stocks are 88,078 tons smaller, the largest steel companies having made heavy purchases in advance of needs, but the actual consumption is large, and prices rise in the face of the increasing output. Bessemer iron is $14.15 at Pittsburgh; plates have advanced $1 per ton.

The sales of steel rails in 1895 to Aug. 1, were $20,000 tons, and the deliveries 582,000. Wagons in this industry have generally advanced, and strikes are few. Minor metals change little, though large sales lift Lake copper to 12½ cents.

Textile imports have been very heavy, and advances in cotton goods to some extent check buying, while Fall River spinners are organizing for restoration of wages paid before the panic. Woolen manufacturers find in their way large sales of foreign goods at prices which cause official investigations. The sales of wool, 6,313,600 domestic and 5,279,900 foreign this month, against 12,870,650 domestic and 1,692,500 foreign last year, and 11,869,802 domestic and 4,566,500 foreign in 1892, indicate that domestic wool is largely held for speculation at prices about 1 cent higher than manufacturers feel able to pay.

Crop reports modified expectations as to cotton and wheat, and cotton speculators have bought, lifting the price five-sixteenths, while wheat, with more evidence of loss in yield, has declined 1½ cents.

A third of the year's consumption of American cotton is yet on hand, but not a third of the year's consumption of wheat. Receipts for the week were better, but not half last year's, and in three weeks 6,598,581 bushels against 17,211,688 bushels last year. Atlantic exports for the week have been 889,301 bushels against 2,749,553 last year, flour included, and for three weeks 2,552,880 bushels against 8,242,683 last year. The official reports for July show exports of 8,611,028 bushels, flour included, against 10,600,147 last year, but the Pacific exports increased five-fold at an average of 57 cents per bushel, while Atlantic exports at about 72 cents per bushel were but 6,028,863 bushels, flour included, against 10,265,559 last year. Corn declined ½ cents with favorable news, and pork fell 25 cents per barrel and lard 18 cents per 100 pounds.

Failures for the week were 195 in the United States, against 228 last year, and 38 in Canada against 45 last year.

English Bicyclists' Protection Won't Go.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The protest which the English bicyclists, arrested at Chadron, Neb., say they are going to make has not arrived at the state department, and if it should be received it is probable they would be promptly informed that the department would take no action in a case where a municipality had punished any one for violating a police regulation. American bicyclists frequently are arrested in England for violation of local police regulations.

Parliament Members' Occupations.

SEC'TY MORTON'S OBJECT LESSON
He Pays His Men In Silver Coin and
Some Don't Like It.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Secretary Morton of the department of agriculture has given what he regards as an object lesson to the employees of his department. He has heard arguments by many of his subordinates in favor of silver. Being the semi-monthly payday, he ordered the paymaster of the department to pay out $1,000 in silver coin, this money weighing 60 pounds.

The silver money was paid to all the employees about the grounds of the agricultural department, to messengers and well known silverites in various positions in the department. Unless Mr. Morton receives a petition to the contrary, it is expected that silver will be paid out again and again on payday to the men who are known to favor it as currency. There was a good deal of kicking among the employees and a good many of them have indicated to the paymaster that they want paper money on their next payday.

Evidence Against Durrant Complete.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—A local paper says the last link in the chain of evidence against Theodore Durrant has been discovered. The woman's name is Mrs. Leake, and she lives at 124 Bartlett street. She knew both parties well.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The treasury officials have been advised from New York that $300,000 in gold has been withdrawn for export, which leaves the gold reserve at the close of business $102,151,963.

The treasury officials were agreeably surprised at the smallness of the withdrawals, and this added to the reduction of foreign exchange, and the reported abundance of foreign bills now on the market gives a hopeful aspect to the situation. Indeed the opinion is freely expressed that the worst is over and that there will be few if any more heavy shipments during the remainder of the season.

A New York special says: In view of the discussion that is now going on in the newspapers as to the government bond syndicate's source of gold supply, it might be well to state that since its formation the syndicate has endeavored to secure for the United States treasury the greater part of the output of the gold mines throughout the United States. They have not paid a direct premium for gold bars, but they have, as is usual with bullion dealers, paid the expense of transferring the gold from the smelters to the government assay officers' and sometimes have divided these expenses with the sellers of bullion and have paid the usual brokerage to bullion dealers for securing the gold bars.

By this means it is believed the syndicate has secured bars to the amount of over $1,000,000 at no greater cost than the normal difference in value between coin and bullion. The greater part of this gold has been represented by assay office checks given in payment for the bars, and these checks are now being turned into the sub-treasury, legal tenders being accepted by the syndicate in payment.

BETTER THAN A NEW RAILROAD

Connection Can Be Made With the Baltimore & Ohio at Steubenville, and Southern Points Can Be Reached—Ohio Congressmen Will Work For It—Board of Commerce to Move.

If the steamboat and coal men doing business on the Ohio expect to have the work of pushing the slackening of the Ohio through congress they will be woefully mistaken, for East Liverpool will undoubtedly play its part in the great enterprise.

For the consideration and advancement of matters of this kind the Liverpool board of commerce was organized, and the members will take up the subject at a meeting to be held early in September. The board will not only indorse, but it will promise to work for the improvement, for Liverpool would be the first town of any importance to receive any benefit from a boating stage the whole year round. Statistics will probably be prepared by the board, to be used in connection with figures from other towns, in convincing congress how necessary it is to dam the river its entire length.

The Cincinnati board have been at work on the project for some time and have collected enough evidence to show what good the improvement would do. Paris C. Brown, one of the prime movers, stated the case plainly when he stated that Col. Amos Stickney favored the convention and was strongly inclined to the opinion that with a proper expenditure of money in improvements the Ohio river could be so deepened and changed that a six foot stage of water could be given the year round from Cincinnati to Cairo. The Ohio river, although having the largest and heaviest traffic of any of the western or southern streams, had heretofore been cut off with the smallest appropriation. The snagboat E. A. Woodruff was only allowed $25,000 per year, while the snagboats of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, of which there are several, were each allowed $50,000 per year for maintenance and improvements.

Mr. Brown said that the business of the Ohio was millions of dollars larger than that done annually on any other stream in the west or south. At the coming convention it was proposed to enlighten the powers that be as to the importance to trade of the Ohio river. More dredgeboats, snagboats and government towboats are needed to improve the stream, so as to prevent the disastrous losses to coal fleets that occur on the occasion of every run of coal.

The last push given the improvement comes from the national board of navigation. Two of the general officers reside in Pittsburgh, and they will push the plans before the board meeting in New York next month. If it is followed up, and there is reason to believe that it will be, another powerful factor will be added to the scheme. That the agitation has come to stay is proven by the following letter from Captain Henderson, one of the foremost men of the Ohio, and president of the organization in question:

"Now that navigation has about suspended, it behoves all interested in the improvement of the Ohio river, and all those who have investments in steamboat property, also those dependent on steamboats for a livelihood, to bring about something that will give more permanence to longer navigation and employment. Many schemes have been suggested, conventions held and a few days after the matter is forgotten. Why not have every craft engaged in business on the Ohio river and tributaries contribute a given sum to a general fund, and have trustees for the same? Employ a competent, energetic and intelligent man, one who is familiar with the ways at Washington, and have him interview every congressman, senator, newspaper man from Pittsburgh to Cairo, and keep the Ohio river improvements before the public and congress all the time. Those who are engaged in the river traffic have no time to attend to the same, or money to spend, and as you are aware, what is every person's business is no one's business. The only way anything can be accomplished through government aid is by persistent efforts; there must be some person to look after steamboatmen's interest all the time or nothing will be accomplished."

With such hearty words behind the movement, there is every reason to believe that the plan will amount to more than talk.

The great claim of Liverpool is that it would be among the first towns to receive benefit from the improvement. A dam or two would make connection with Pittsburg decidedly easy, and shippers could afford to laugh at the Pennsylvania company when it presented exorbitant rates.

YOUNG SPIRITS,

A SPANISH ANECDOTE.

A Moor Whose Son Was Killed Assists the Murderer to Escape.

A Spanish cavalier, in a sudden quarrel, slew a Moorish gentleman and fled. His pursuers soon lost sight of him, for he had unperceived thrown himself over a garden wall. The owner, a Moor, happening to be in his garden, was addressed by the Spaniard, on his knees, who acquainted him with his case and implored concealment. "Eat this," said the Moor, "you know that you may confide in my protection." He then locked him up in his garden apartment, telling him that as soon as it was night he would provide for his escape to a place of safety.

The Moor then went to his house, where he had just seated himself, when a great crowd, with loud lamentations, came to his gate, bringing the corpse of his son, who had just been killed by the Spaniard. When the first shock of surprise was a little over, he learned, from the description given, that the fatal deed was done by the very person then in his power. He mentioned this to no one, but as soon as it was dark, retired to his garden, as if to grieve alone, giving orders that none should follow him. Then, accosting the Spaniard, he said: "Christian, the person you have killed is my son; his body is now in my house. You ought to suffer, but you have eaten with me, and I have given you my faith, which must not be broken." He then led the astonished Spaniard to his stables, and mounted him on one of his fleetest horses, and said:

"Fly far while the night can cover you; you will be safe in the morning. You are indeed guilty of my son's blood, but God is just and good, and I thank him I am innocent of yours, and that my faith is preserved!" His point of honor is, it is said, most religiously observed by the Arabs and Saracens, from whom it was adopted by the Moors of Africa and by them was brought into Spain.

THE PLAN OF THE UNION

Manager Fowler Explains the New System.

PART OF A GREAT IDEA

A Central Station in Cincinnati Will Distribute Goods, and Liverpool is Only a Part of the Chain—How the Concern Will Operate It.

The plan of the Union pottery to provide its members and employees with the supplies usually used by a family and save them a given percentage on the cost now borne by them, has caused so much comment in the city, and so many wild statements have been made by an unreliable publication, that a NEWS REVIEW man asked Manager Fowler to explain it, and he made this statement:

"The American Co-Operative company, with headquarters at Cincinnati, propose to furnish every cooperative institution in the United States with the necessities of life, and as this can only be done, in our case, through a store, we have decided that the better plan is to give merchants already located whatever benefit may be derived from our trade after allowing our employees a liberal discount, so arrangements have been made with one store in each branch of business by which certificates are accepted at their face value and returned to the company at certain times to be redeemed in cash, less the rebate.

"Our plan is as follows: On pay day each employee issues a check calling for whatever amount of certificates he desires. If he wants all in money he can have it; all in certificates, he can have it. On the certificates he is immediately credited with one-half the rebate, which he can use at once if desired. The other half is held in trust for the present, the employee to decide at a later time what shall be done with it; so practically he receives all the benefit of the discount. He then handles these certificates as cash as they are taken for merchandise or will be redeemed at the office any time.

"One feature of the system is that an employee's check will be honored upon presentation whenever he has a day's work to his credit. An odd Saturday for instance may find him a little short, and he may now get certificates, while under our former rules no money was advanced between paydays. It is no longer necessary for him to contract debts as long as he lives within his means, as his money is always ready for him. Labor is his capital, and a less treacherous capital no man can have.

"I certainly can not understand why any workingman in East Liverpool should condemn a system from which his brother workman is deriving a benefit as long as that system can in no way interfere with his interests. You may depend upon it that if the Union Co-Operative Pottery company thought for one moment that this move was against the interests of other working people in our city, it would be soon discontinued. There are too many Brotherhood men among us to sanction any plan injurious to the laboring man's cause.

"No, I do not believe other potteries will adopt the plan. It would not pay an ordinary form of company to do it, unless from a philanthropic motive. Even if they should you can readily see that the workingman (and by that I mean the women, too,) would be the gainer.

"Several of the stores interested are stockholders in the company, and they too can use the certificates among themselves, thus saving a discount on their purchases. Later on they can purchase many of their goods from the Cincinnati supply station, which is a distributing center for all products of co-operative institutions, at a lower price than at present, so that the discount given to us does not come from them after all. They are the connecting link in a great chain forged upon co-operative principles—the principles which shall yet prove the means of emancipating labor and of solving the great social question of the day, and I am surprised to learn that certain merchants have gone so far as to threaten to boycott the stores interested in the movement, because I feel as E. P. Foster, secretary of the American Industrial union says in a letter just received from him, 'you are on the right track and your plan deserves success.'

"There is a strong co-operative sentiment in East Liverpool, and it seems to me that the merchant who opens hostilities against a plan such as ours is jeopardizing his own interests, and deserves the condemnation of every man interested in labor and labor's cause.

"I did not care to make our system a public matter, but as there seems to be some misunderstanding concerning the

it, you are at perfect liberty to make use of what I have said in your paper."

The statement will be read with no little interest by many who have been discussing the system during the week, but have had no real foundation upon which to work, because they were unacquainted with the purpose of the plan and its mode of operation.

PURINTON'S OPINIONS.

The Liverpool Attorney Said Some Sensible Things in Springfield.

The Columbus Journal in reporting the convention of building and loan men at Springfield has this to say of Mr. Purinton's paper:

"Mr. J. J. Purinton, of East Liverpool, then read a paper on 'Foreclosure—When and Why?' He advocated foreclosure as the last resort of the association, after everything else had failed. He said he did not believe in the associations having anything of the Shylock character in their dealings—they should get their pound of flesh, but not one drop of blood.

In times of depression, such as the temporary suspension of a large manufacturing concern, which was certain sooner or later to do business again, the men who were thus compelled to cease payments on their houses should be given a chance to keep on their feet. They should be made to pay the interest on the money, insurance, etc., until such a time as they could commence payments, provided, of course, that they showed a disposition to commence payments as soon as possible.

The only time, he thought, foreclosure necessary or justifiable was when the security was liable to become permanently impaired or the person shiftless and not likely to make steady payments.

He clearly voiced the sentiments of the delegates, and his methods were discussed by a number of delegates."

NERVY THIEVES.

Tramps or Campers Eat a Square Meal at East End.

About the boldest trick of thieves that ever occurred in East End was that which Thomas Finley discovered upon arising yesterday morning.

Some unknown parties, presumably tramps or campers, had entered the kitchen by a window and proceeded to the cellar in search of food. What they found there they appropriated to their own use and placed it on the kitchen table for future reference.

There was other food on the table so that nothing lacked for a meal except in the line of drinkables. This the thieves hesitated not about securing, but had nerve enough to build a fire in the stove and make coffee enough for two, as the remains of the liquid in the cups attest. There was little or nothing left on the table except the dishes when they finished their meal, and not content with satisfying their appetites they threw some of the ware into the yard and took with them a large bowl of salt. They left the door and windows open upon taking their departure.

The bold trick caused considerable talk in East End, done as it was without arousing a single member of the family or the servant girl on the floor above.

"I did not care to make our system a public matter, but as there seems to be some misunderstanding concerning the

it, you are at perfect liberty to make use of what I have said in your paper."

PAT DENSMORE'S BOND

He Was Given a Hearing Last Night and Bound Over.

TAKEN TO LISBON TODAY

The Defense Made No Statement of the Case, and the Four Stories Told Were the Same as Those Printed After the Fight.

Pat Densmore was given a hearing last night, and is today reposing in one of the comfortable rooms provided by the county at Lisbon for men of his character.

It was freely stated on the street last night that Densmore's friends were anxious to have him released on bail before a sudden change could take place in the condition of Poyer, but the authorities would not allow that until they had every reason to believe the injured man was out of danger.

The hearing last night was conducted quietly, and there was no disposition on the part of the mayor to deal leniently with the prisoner. John Davis and Patrolman McMillan were examined for what they knew of the fight, but had little to say beyond what has already been given. Cornelius Smith and William Horton, the other men who were cut, told their stories in much the same manner as they have talked to the press. They had little new to offer, and the state, if it possessed any testimony not on the surface, failed to bring it out. The defense when called upon had nothing whatever to say in the way of attempting to clear the accused. Attorneys Brookes and McGarry only asked the mayor to set the amount of bond required, and that was all.

As there were no bondsmen there the mayor sent Densmore back to jail, and at a late hour decided to bind him over to the grand jury, the bond asked being $10,000. The security was not forthcoming, and Chief Gill took Densmore to Lisbon this morning. When Mr. Brookes was asked today if any of Densmore's friends intended giving the bond he refused to talk for publication. It is believed, however, that the move will be made now that Poyer seems to be getting somewhat better. As the man is not considered worse and there are prospects of him recovering Densmore may not stay a great time in jail.

William Horton testified that he and Smith entered McFadden's place and found Densmore and Poyer talking. He did not hear them have any dispute but suddenly Densmore struck Poyer a blow on the ear with the left hand and throwing him across his knee drew the knife with the other. He had Poyer's head back ready to cut his throat when Horton interfered and was wounded and Smith came to his rescue.

Cornelius Smith told more. He said he heard Densmore ask Poyer what he "ran away for," and Poyer replied, "I didn't run away." Densmore said, "You're a — liar; you did," and then struck him and stabbed him. "When Horton was cut," said Smith, "he ran over to me and said he was killed. I replied, 'You — fool, if you're killed, lay down on the floor.'"

John Davis knew little or nothing about it. He said he walked through the barroom to the back yard before the trouble and when he came back it was all over.

Patrolman McMillan testified that Densmore was standing in the saloon, knife in hand, when he arrested him, and he closed the weapon in a rear room, and put it in his pocket. The officers afterward secured it at city hall.

When he was confined at city hall the authorities knew the man they had to handle and watched him carefully. A rumor that Poyer's friends would attempt to lynch him evidently had an effect upon the authorities for he was guarded day and night. An officer was always around where he could keep an eye on him, and at night two men watched without sleeping. Chief Gill was at the jail until midnight. Officer Meanor was there from that time until 1:30 when he was joined by Officer Whan, who always visits the midnight train in search of suspicious characters. From that hour until dawn Densmore had company, and could not become lonesome. It was generally believed that some of his friends might attempt a rescue if his life was in danger, and the guard was strictly maintained.

Whether there were grounds for this extra precaution on the part of the authorities cannot be told, but it certainly served to keep the prisoner safe and prevent disorder.

Poyer is a little better today and the physicians hope that he will recover. Doctor Kirk made this statement today when questioned by a reporter:

"The doctors consider his chances for recovery as improved. The chances from the start have been against him, but are as good now as can reasonably be expected. They are improved over yesterday. It will require a few days more to tell whether the patient will recover."

The published story about the stomach being black, and the presence of inflammation, brought a smile from a group of physicians today. The blackness is caused by the blood clotting and the bruise in the region of the wound.

LOCATING THE BRIDGE.

Colonel Stickney and Party Will Be Here on Monday.

The following appeared last evening in a Pittsburgh paper:

A meeting will be held next Monday at East Liverpool, O., by a board of United States engineers, to view the site of a proposed bridge. The board is made up of Colonel Amos Stickney and Major D. W. Lockwood, of Cincinnati, and Major R. L. Hoxie, of Pittsburgh, all United States engineers. They meet under a special law regulating the building of bridges over the Ohio river.

J. E. McDonald stated this morning that he did not expect any protests from the Pittsburgh coal exchange this year. They objected at the other meeting, and got almost all they asked. The object in the meeting is to place the bridge so there need be no legal ground for complaint in the future.

AN QLD POTTER.

George West, Sr., Is Near Death at Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

George West, Sr., is near death at his home in Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Mr. West was formerly in the pottery business here for about 25 years. He was in the firm of West, Hardwick & Co., succeeded by George Morley and later by the East Liverpool Pottery company. He left East Liverpool about five years ago and is in his 76th year. Old age is the cause of his illness and it is hardly thought that he will recover.

Mr. West is the father of George West, travelling man for Vodrey's and he has been telegraphed for, but changed his route, and has not yet been located.

OPEN AGAIN.

E. K. Chamberlain's Store Was Only Closed One Day.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Chamberlain arrived from Atlantic City yesterday afternoon and as anticipated in the NEWS REVIEW last night, the store was open a few hours later.

Ellis & Co., of Pittsburg, had a representative here who explained that the closing of the store was all a mistake and had been done by a subordinate. They showed their regret by promptly paying the costs and Mr. Chamberlain's place is open as usual.

LIVERPOOL INTERESTED.

Local Men Will Put Money In the Rogers Pottery.

Two parties from this city and an equal number from Palestine are said to be behind the plan to build a pottery at Rogers. All are reliable men, and as the town offers them as much land as they want the pottery seems to be a certainty.

Going to Brooklyn.

John Anderson will leave on Monday for Brooklyn where he will attend the national meeting of the Daughters of America. He will be joined in Pittsburg by C. W. Morris, national treasurer, Miss Rachel Grafton and Miss Anna Davidson, all of Weisberville; Mrs. Julia Tipton, Miss Jane Packer and Miss Minnie Bechtel, of Canton, and the party will travel east together. They expect to return through Washington and Baltimore, stopping in each place for a short time to see the sights.

THE PROFESSOR'S CLAIM.

When Professor Wilson, he who framed the tariff law and wanted to wipe East Liverpool off the face of the earth, was defeated in his congressional district last year, the Democratic press was sufficiently interested in his welfare to advise that President Cleveland appoint him to a place on the supreme court bench, should the arch enemy of mankind remove one of the members before the present administration died. The president evidently took kindly to the suggestion for he recognized the services of Mr. Wilson to his party, which simply means the services of Mr. Wilson against his people, and gave him the first public snap in his gift. Now those same Democratic papers are again urging the elevation of the reformer to the highest court in the land, and it is high time they viewed it in a different light. Who is this Professor Wilson, this idol of Democracy, that they should give him a high position? What claim has he upon the supreme bench where legal questions of the first importance are decided? He is a Democrat who chanced to break into congress because he lived in a district with a big Democratic majority. He was never known outside of the narrow confines of the district, and even then he was not observed as a brilliant man. His claim to the honor of a degree was not learned in a great college of the land, and the title of professor was obtained in an institution of learning never known beyond the state. Mr. Wilson's law practice was confined to county courts, and courts of lower degree, and his record as an attorney is not better than a thousand that could be picked from the bar of Ohio. The Democratic administration selected him as a fanatical tariff reformer to carry out its mandate, and he did his best. Perhaps that is his only claim. He cannot be rated among the scholarly and highly educated men of the nation any more than he can claim distinction as an eminent jurist and lawyer. He is a good politician, did very well as a country lawyer, seemed able to look after Wilson when a college professor, tickles Cleveland by the saving of money as postmaster-general, but he has not the qualifications and possesses no more claim for a seat in the supreme court than any one of 10,000 attorneys who could easily be selected.

TWO LIVES SAVED.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result every thing else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Potts drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.

THE SEASON BELATED.

Frozen May Set Everything Back In a Business Way.

INDUSTRIES BOOM IN SPITE OF IT.

Dun's Review Says Steel Consumption Is Larger and Prices Rise in the Face of the Increasing Output—Slight Decline in Wheat—Business Failures.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—R. G. Dun & Co. say in their Review of Trade today: It is a belated season, frozen May set everything back. The heavy business which ought to have been done in May and June was pushed into July, so that the midsummer decline, due in July, comes in August. With this in mind one is not surprised to find the shrinkage from July to August rather more conspicuous than usual. The disappointing crop reports of last Saturday, though evidently distrusted, lessen confidence in regard to the future of trade, even while some speculators gain by them.

Back of all doubts is the fact that the industries are doing better than anybody could have expected. The output of pig iron Aug. 1 was 180,525 tons weekly, or 176,506 by another report, in either case close to the largest output in 1893, though surpassed 15,000 tons in the spring of 1892.

Unsold stocks are 88,078 tons smaller, the largest steel companies having made heavy purchases in advance of needs, but the actual consumption is large, and prices rise in the face of the increasing output. Bessemer iron is $14.15 at Pittsburgh; plates have advanced $1 per ton.

The sales of steel rails in 1895 to Aug. 1, were $20,000 tons, and the deliveries 582,000. Wages in this industry have been generally advanced, and strikes are few. Minor metals change little, though large sales lift Lake copper to 12½ cents.

Trade imports have been very heavy, and advances in cotton goods to some extent check buying, while Fall River spinners are organizing for restoration of wages paid before the panic. Woolen manufacturers find in their way large sales of foreign goods at prices which cause official investigations. The sales of wool, 6,311,600 domestic and 5,273,900 foreign this month, against 12,870,650 domestic and 1,602,500 foreign last year and 11,869,802 domestic and 4,866,500 foreign in 1893 indicate that domestic wool is largely held for speculation at prices about 1 cent higher than manufacturers feel able to pay.

Crop reports modified expectations as to cotton and wheat, and cotton speculators have bought, lifting the price five-sixteenths, while wheat, with more evidence of loss in yield, has declined 1½ cents.

A third of the year's consumption of American cotton is yet on hand, but not a third of the year's consumption of wheat. Receipts for the week were better, but not half last year's, and in three weeks 6,598,551 bushels against 17,811,639 bushels last year. Atlantic exports for the week have been 889,301 bushels against 2,749,555 last year, flour included, and for three weeks 2,552,880 bushels against 8,242,683 last year. The official reports for July show exports of 8,611,926 bushels, flour included, against 10,900,147 last year, but the Pacific exports increased five-fold at an average of 57 cents per bushel, while Atlantic exports at about 72 cents per bushel were but 6,928,863 bushels, flour included, against 10,265,559 last year. Corn declined ¾ cents with favorable news, and pork fell 25 cents per barrel and lard 18 cents per 100 pounds.

Failures for the week were 195 in the United States, against 228 last year, and 38 in Canada against 45 last year. English Bicyclists' Protests Won't Go. WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The protests which the English bicyclists, arrested at Chadron, Neb., say they are going to make has not arrived at the state department, and if it should be received it is probable they would be promptly informed that the department would take no action in a case where a municipality had punished any one for violating a police regulation. American bicyclists frequently are arrested in England for violation of local police regulations.

Parliament Members' Occupations. LONDON, Aug. 17.—A census of the parliament just assembled shows that only 190 out of 665 are new members. As to occupations 150 are lawyers, 54 manufacturers, 88 merchants, 10 professors in universities, 31 journalists, 12 skilled laborers, 19 brewers, distillers and wine merchants, 46 army and navy officers in active service, 146 gentry, peers' sons and peers' brothers.

THE TREASURY SAFE.

Smallness of Gold Shipments Surprises the Officials.

FEW MORE LIKELY THIS SEASON.

Small Withdrawals, Reduction of Foreign Exchange and Abundance of Foreign Bills Gives a Hopeful Aspect to the Situation—How the Syndicate Gets Gold.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The treasury officials have been advised from New York that $300,000 in gold has been withdrawn for export, which leaves the gold reserve at the close of business $102,151,963.

The treasury officials were agreeably surprised at the smallness of the withdrawals, and this added to the reduction of foreign exchange, and the reported abundance of foreign bills now on the market gives a hopeful aspect to the situation. Indeed the opinion is freely expressed that the worst is over and that there will be few if any more heavy shipments during the remainder of the season.

A New York special says: In view of the discussion that is now going on in the newspapers as to the government bond syndicate's source of gold supply, it might be well to state that since its formation the syndicate has endeavored to secure for the United States treasury the greatest part of the output of the gold mines throughout the United States. They have not paid a direct premium for gold bars, but they have, as is usual with bullion dealers, paid the expense of transferring the gold from the smelters to the government assay offices and sometimes have divided these expenses with the sellers of bullion and have paid the usual brokerage to bullion dealers for securing the gold bars.

By this means it is believed the syndicate has secured bars to the amount of over $5,000,000 at no greater cost than the normal difference in value between coin and bullion. The greater part of this gold has been represented by assay office checks given in payment for the bars, and these checks are now being turned into the sub-treasury, legal tenders being accepted by the syndicate in payment therefor.

SECRET MORTON'S OBJECT LESSON
He Pays His Men in Silver Coin and
Some Don't Like It.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Secretary Morton of the department of agriculture has given what he regards as an object lesson to the employees of his department. He has heard arguments by many of his subordinates in favor of silver. Being the semi-monthly payday, he ordered the paymaster of the department to pay out $1,000 in silver coin, this money weighing 60 pounds.

The silver money was paid to all the employees about the grounds of the agricultural department, to messengers and well known silverites in various positions in the department. Unless Mr. Morton receives a petition to the contrary, it is expected that silver will be paid out again and again on payday to the men who are known to favor it as currency. There was a good deal of kicking among the employees and a good many of them have indicated to the paymaster that they want paper money on their next payday.

BETTER THAN A NEW RAILROAD

Connection Can Be Made With the Baltimore & Ohio at Steubenville, and Southern Points Can Be Reached—Ohio Congressmen Will Work For It—Board of Commerce to Move.

If the steamboat and coal men doing business on the Ohio expect to have the work of pushing the slack-watering of the Ohio through congress they will be woefully mistaken, for East Liverpool will undoubtedly play its part in the great enterprise.

For the consideration and advancement of matters of this kind the Liverpool board of commerce was organized, and the members will take up the subject at a meeting to be held early in September. The board will not only indorse, but it will promise to work for the improvement, for Liverpool would be the first town of any importance to receive any benefit from a boating stage the whole year round. Statistics will probably be prepared by the board, to be used in connection with figures from other towns, in convincing congress how necessary it is to dam the river its entire length. The Cincinnati board have been at work on the project for some time and have collected enough evidence to show what good the improvement would do.

—Mr. Fritschie, the traveling representative of the sprinkler company, was in town last evening.

—E. E. Bennett and son, of Cleveland, who have been visiting relatives in this city for several days, returned byterian minister at Lisbon, and family, accompanied by Miss Eells, were day.

Henry Deidrick is acting in his absence.

—Howard Hulings left last night days for an outing in New York state.

—James Martin, the genial drug clerk who has been spending a few days among his friends and at his home, returned to Fairmount, W.
Va., this morning.

A Side Swipe.

The Steubenville Gazette of yesterday contains a long article on the pottery, and with that pitiful jealousy for which the village is noted, delivers this side swipe to Liverpool:

"The Gazette reporter saw ware there, decorated and plain, which is very attractive, and the good ladies who go to East Liverpool and buy so-called china, should first visit our home institution, and then they would not be so proud of their foreign purchases."

With such hearty words behind the movement, there is every reason to believe that the plan will amount to more than talk.

The great claim of Liverpool is that it would be among the first towns to receive benefit from the improvement.

A dam or two would make connection with Pittsburgh decidedly easy, and shippers could afford to laugh at the Pennsylvania company when it presented exorbitant rates.

Oil at Williamsport.

William Calhoun Sr., returned today drill to give them good news.
